

Buck Scraper

This scoop originally towed by a horse, was used for dam sinking on properties throughout the outback. An operator walked behind the machine using the handles (one of which is missing) to angle the scoop into the ground to pick up dirt.